

Wireframe, Web

Since my design is mobile first I mocked up a less details wire for web. In these mockups I show how the design expands for larger screens. Here the navigation bar at the top display all website nav links along with an Order CTA in the top right. The palette preview has more real estate to display all three images in view. The Gallery Page also features a wider two column layout.

